17th Annual General Assembly

Governing in an Era of Disruptive Technologies

The conference will focus on understanding the capabilities, applications, and adoption rates of some of today's rapidly advancing technologies and what the role of cities is as users, regulators, and even providers. This free event is for elected officials, city staff, city commissioners, community and business leaders, along with the general public. Join us at the General Assembly to hear speakers discuss these challenging issues and see "hands-on" demonstrations of technologies throughout the program and in the exhibit hall.
