

Bio for Michael McCormick

Michael McCormick serves as the Local and Regional Affairs Advisor at the California Governor's Office of Planning and Research. His focus is at the nexus of local government and State policy. Mr. McCormick is actively working to institutionalize the consideration of climate change across agencies and organizations at the State, regional and local level. He supports the Governor and the cabinet on issues relating to the President's Local Task Force on Climate, partnerships, climate change, natural hazards mitigation and communication issues. Mr. McCormick has experience working in academic, local government and consulting capacities and is an advisor to organizations working on land use and climate change issues in California and beyond.