

Mike Witzansky has over 18 years of experience in local government, including 12 years leading a variety of complex public service departments, operations, and projects. He is currently the Assistant City Manager for the City of Redondo Beach where he oversees and/or supports preparation of the City's capital and operating budgets, labor relations, economic development, land use, and general City services. Prior to becoming the ACM, he served as the City's Public Works Director and the Recreation and Community Services Director. Mike also spent six years in the City of Torrance as an Administrative Analyst and Sr. Business Manager. Mike and his family reside in the City of Torrance and have lived in the South Bay for over 17 years.