Alan Pullman Bio

Alan Pullman is founder and senior principal at Studio One Eleven, leading the design and integration of the firm's architecture and urban design work. He is a licensed architect with over 30 years' experience working with cities, developers, and communities to enhance and improve the design and quality of the urban environment. Alan's practice philosophy is rooted in a people-centric approach to city making. The impetus for Studio One Eleven was to create a practice devoted to local engagement with a commitment to collaborative solutions that address the multiple issues cities and their residents are facing in the 21st Century. Alan has led several planning and urban revitalization efforts including the Downtown Long Beach Visioning Process, Carson Street Mixed Use Master Plan, Reseda Rising Community Vision, Downtown Lomita Vision Plan, Westchester Business Improvement District Strategy and the Little Tokyo Transit Oriented Development Opportunity. Alan is currently is a director on the Downtown Long Beach Associates Board and serves on its Executive Committee, and is a member of the Urban Land Institute's Urban Revitalization Council. A native of New York, Alan was awarded a Master of Science in Cities from The London School of Economics and Political Science, and a Bachelor of Architecture degree from Syracuse University.
