

Wallace Walrod, Ph. D.

Dr. Wallace Walrod is lead economist and Chief Economic Advisor for both the Orange County Business Council and the Southern California Association of Governments, a research advisor to OCTANe, an Expert in Residence at UC Irvine's Institute for Applied Innovation, and on the Board of the Social Science Research Center at Cal State Fullerton. His work includes designing innovative research, strategy, and policy solutions for private industry, government, and private foundations, including Allergan, JPMorgan Chase, Bank of America, Toshiba America Information Systems, County of Orange, OCTA, Hitachi Chemical, The Irvine Company, Southern California Edison, California Emerging Technology Fund, California Center for Regional Leadership, Pacific Life Foundation, the James Irvine Foundation, and many others.

Dr. Walrod graduated with a Ph.D. in Regional Economics from UC Irvine, where he studied successful strategic management practices in high-tech firms, including advanced electronics and biotechnology, and published three papers co-authored with Luis Suarez-Villa in Disasters, Journal of International Biotechnology, and Urban Studies. He is quoted frequently in the Los Angeles Times, Orange County Register, Wall Street Journal, The Economist, Entrepreneur, and other publications on economic, business, and data matters.